1. Hub & Steering Group News

NGH Steering Group Update

Welcome!

First of all, we'd like to welcome Karen, Cath, Jean, Allie and Alice to NGH and hope you enjoy being part of the network.

June 7th Community Event

We're excited to tell you that we'll have two speakers from Northumberland Wildlife Trust at our next face to face meeting on June 7th. Duncan Hutt (Director of Conservation) will be coming to talk about the Trust's purchase of the Rothbury Estate, a 9,500 acre property which it hopes will become a flagship for nature recovery. His colleague Graham Holyoak (Wilder Northumberland Officer) will then talk about the Trust's plans to create a 40 mile wildlife corridor from Druridge Bay to the Scottish border at Kielderhead. We're just finalising plans for the rest of the morning – so do make sure that June 7th is in your diary. If you haven't been to one of our events before, why not come along? It's a friendly and welcoming atmosphere and a great way to meet other members. Booking will open at the beginning of May – look out for further details coming shortly.

Training

We're offering free digital skills training delivered by Digital Voice for Communities on Tuesday April 29th, 12.30 – 4.30pm at St James Church Centre, Alnwick. You can find more details on page 3 and on the NGH website at Training – Northumberland Green Hub. There are still some places left so it's not too late to book.

Getting to know other members

We know that one of the reasons people join NGH is to meet other folk with similar interests. We currently encourage new members to post a few words on the 'Introduce Yourself' WhatsApp group, but we know this isn't particularly user friendly or accessible. So, we'd like to see if there is interest in creating a Directory of Members which would enable people to share some simple information about their interests, expertise, location and contact details.

We want to get a balance between creating something useful but not onerous, and of course we'd need to work out the best way of doing this. To canvas opinions, we'll carry out a WhatsApp poll in the next couple of weeks or alternatively you can email us with your thoughts at Northumberlandgreenhub@gmail.com.

Great Big Green Week

This year Great Big Green Week takes place between June 7th and 15th. You can find information and guidance at <https://www.greatbiggreenweek.com/>. Whatever you are planning as a local group, please tell us about it for the next edition of the Digest.

And finally...

The date of the September NGH Community Event has been changed and is now on Saturday September 13th.

2 Communication in NGH

As NGH is growing, we thought it might be useful to provide a short overview of the various ways we use to communicate with members, which include email, WhatsApp and the Digest.

When someone joins, they are added to our email distribution list which we use to send out the Monthly Digest and invitations to our Community Events; occasionally we also send other information by email.

New members are also invited to join the NGH WhatsApp Community. We use this for a wider range of information that we think will be of interest to members – if you've got an event you want to promote, a WhatsApp Announcement is one way of doing that. In a WhatsApp Community only 'Admins' can send messages. Although members can reply, the replies are only seen by the Admins. It's a way to 'broadcast' messages to a group rather than for dialogue.

Once someone has joined the WhatsApp Community, they can then join whichever Special Interest Groups they want to – these 'SIGs' are set up as a WhatsApp Group in the same way as you might with friends or family.

The SIGs are there for members to share news, ideas, ask questions and get support. Each SIG is different. Some are more active than others and some members may choose to read the chat but not necessarily post messages. The extent to which members get involved is entirely up to them.

We've provided some guidance about appropriate etiquette for the SIGs; you can find this at wa-community-etiquette.pdf. We know that not all members want to join the WhatsApp Community, but please be aware that you will not receive all the information that is sent out as an Announcement on WhatsApp.

If you have something you'd like to share with all members that is perhaps a bit longer, you can tell us about it by emailing Northumberlandgreenhub@gmail.com as it may be more suitable for the Digest or the website.

We hope that's a useful summary – if you've got any ideas about how we could improve communication we'd love to hear from you.

3. Training Opportunities

Digital Voice – Digital Learning Session for NGH Members

Digital Voice is a not-for-profit social enterprise which has been delivering digital inclusion projects since 2007. They are teaming up with NGH to deliver a FREE Digital Learning event funded by Tyne and Wear Community Foundation.

The training will take place on Tuesday April 29th from 12.30 – 4.30pm at St James Church Centre, Alnwick. There will be two sessions, each approximately 90 minutes covering digital graphic design using Canva and web and social media management. Everyone will be able to attend both sessions. Equipment and refreshments provided.

It's not too late to book your place! Full details of the event can be found on the Training page of the NGH website at Training – Northumberland Green Hub.

Feedback from GIS Training - Mapping Futures

The ease of using our mobile phones to find directions means many young people cannot read an old-fashioned map or get lost on mountains when the signal fades. In fact, there is a far deeper data revolution in progress with some organisations both providing geographically specific data on a whole range of issues and others using mapping software to analyse it.

Back in January around 20 members of NGH joined with others on an on-line course, organised and supported by the Field Studies Council, which introduced us to QGIS, a widely used open-source mapping programme. The course covered basic principles of data mapping and, mainly through the interaction between participants, created awareness of many sources of environmental data which is structured so that it can be displayed geographically. The course was well facilitated and informative but only introductory. It left us feeling confident that further work would allow us to acquire the necessary skills to fully use the software. The challenge now is perhaps to find the project where the value gained from mapping and linking local environmental information would repay the effort.

4. Biodiversity & Wildlife

Missing Lynx Survey

The Missing Lynx Project is a partnership between The Lifescape Project, Northumberland Wildlife Trust and the Royal Society of Wildlife Trusts. It aims to provide a range of opportunities to listen and to explore people's thoughts and opinions around bringing lynx back and offers different ways for people to engage with the project.

Research has shown that lynx released into Northumberland could grow into a healthy population. The most likely area covers north-west Northumberland, the edge of Cumbria and areas bordering southern Scotland.

You can find out more about The Missing Lynx Project by visiting the website and take part in the research by completing a questionnaire exploring attitudes and anticipated impacts to a reintroduction.

Wallington gets share of funding to 'turn the tide' for nature

Source: Northumberland Gazette

Date: March 28th 2025

Wallington is one of four National Trust locations that have been awarded part of £5 million funding from the Garfield Weston Foundation. The Fallowlees Burn corridor on the estate will be transformed through restoration of 173 acres of land, creating wetlands, woods and grasslands. River health will be improved, and it is hoped this may support the return of water voles to the area.

Northumberland Wildlife Trust

The Big Give Green Match Funding for NWT

The Northumberland Wildlife Trust is aiming to raise £160,000 towards protecting the Rothbury Estate.

From noon on Tuesday April 15th to Tuesday April 22nd, any donations will be doubled with match funding. In total the charity needs to raise £30 million to buy the rest of the 9,500-acre estate and has so far raised £6 million.

The Wildlife Trusts charity is currently developing a management plan for the land and will soon be beginning to monitor habitats. See: <https://www.bbc.co.uk/news/articles/c981wpg1n56o>

Biodiversity Boost for Druridge

Northumberland Wildlife Trust have received £750,000 from DEFRA and the National Lottery Heritage Fund's Species Survival Fund, to increase biodiversity in the Druridge area.

Habitat creation and improvement work will involve the restructuring of plantation woodland, reedbeds and waterways as well as the creation of species rich grassland, a wildflower meadow and wetland areas across three of our reserves: East Chevington, West Chevington and Hauxley as well as at Northumberland Zoo.

The project also aims to connect more people to nature. This will be done through volunteer task days and public events. Facilities to watch and learn about native wildlife will be improved by the installation of two new wildlife watching hides and wildlife cameras and access to our reserves will be improved through the creation of new footpaths and bridleways.

5. Active Travel

Borderline Greenway Now Open

On March 29th 2025, the first phase of the Borderline Greenway route opened, sixty years to the day since the original railway line was closed.

A group of around 50 volunteers and supporters gathered at the newly installed Greensfield Bridge, where the Lady Lieutenant cut the ribbon, marking the historic moment.

Over the last four years, volunteers have raised more than £130,000 and cleared trees and vegetation. Ditches have been cleared and a new bridge installed at Greensfield making the route accessible for walkers, cyclists, horse riders, pushchairs and wheelchairs.

The long-term aim is to extend the path from Alnwick to Cornhill as an all-access path. Together with the development of the Tweed Path and the existing coastal path, this would create a 100 mile circular route around Northumberland.

You can find out more on the website. Anyone interested in volunteering to help with track maintenance, litter picking and vegetation management should email VolunteersBorderline@gmail.com.

6. Rivers, Sea & Coast

Great UK WaterBlitz

This biannual campaign is back – and calling on everyone to get out and test the quality of their local river, stream or lake. The data will help to build a national picture of water quality across the UK.

The last event in September 2024 showed that 61% of places monitored had poor water quality. Northumberland was one of the places with the best water quality – but there is still contamination and it's important to capture data on as wide a variety of water bodies as possible.

This year's blitz takes place between April 25th and 28th. To find out how to get involved, visit Great UK WaterBlitz - Earthwatch Europe

Bathing Water Status Application

The CRAG Little Shore Group has been formed to deliver a community driven campaign to gain Bathing Water Status (BTS) at Little Shore in Amble. The group are working with the Harbour Commission to drive the process forward.

BWS is one of the best ways to protect a river, ensuring that regular testing is carried out. Part of the campaign involves talking to the community and using a questionnaire to try and understand how the beach is used. The questionnaire will be available from May 13th on the CRAG website, and paper copies will also be available around Amble. The group will be attending the annual Puffin Festival on Saturday May 24th and holding meetings during the bathing season.

To find out more or to get involved, email wariversgroup@gmail.com.

Funding announced for flood defence schemes

The Environment agency has announced nearly £600,000 funding for three flood defence schemes in Northumberland:

- Improvements to Beadnell North Sea Wall to defend against coastal erosion,
- North Northumberland and Budle Bay Coastal Streams habitat works to defend from sea flooding,
- Coquet Estuary Re-Alignment to defend from river flooding.

The investment is part of the Governments 'Plan for Change' aimed at supporting a stable economy in the face of increased flooding risk resulting from climate change.

Scheme to prevent sewer flooding on the River Coquet

Source: Northumberland Gazette, April 5th 2025

Northumbrian Water has invested £500,000 to help protect the River Coquet at Warkworth from sewer flooding. The pumping station next to the river on The Stanners has been converted to utilise a wet well that holds wastewater ready to be pumped. This reduces the risk of sewer flooding and adds resilience to the network.

7. Arts and Culture

Each month, the NGH Arts and Culture Special Interest Group ask the group for a nature-themed prompt. So far this year, we've celebrated Lovely Lichen in January, Signs of Life in February and Clouds in March and the current theme is Light. The idea is simple: as you're out and about, pause for a moment, snap a photo of something that catches your eye, and share it with the group.

Whether or not you add a comment, sharing your photo gives us all a glimpse of the beauty you see and helps strengthen our connection to the nature we're working so hard to protect.

We'd love to see even more people get involved. If this sounds like something you'd enjoy, come and join us in the Special Interest Group and share your perspective. It's a wonderful way to slow down, appreciate nature, and connect with our community. Let's see what catches your eye next!

This month's theme is 'Light'.

8. Updates from Groups

Climate Action Wansbeck

Welcome to British Summertime from CAW. We have been spoiled with the lovely sunshine over the last few weeks. Hope you've managed to get out and spot all the wonderful signs of spring.

Newbiggin Climate Group (NCC) have invited CAW members to join them for a combined monthly meeting. The Newbiggin group have been collaborating with CAW over the last few months and had valuable discussions on climate change and mitigation.

We have a regular Climate Change Reading Group which meets monthly (details in the Events section), and you can find out more about the CAW events in the Events section on page 7, including a visit to Fen Letch on May 10th (contact climateactionwansbeck@gmail.com for more information and time of the visit).

For more information about any of our activities, or to get involved, sign up for our Newsletter at www.climateactionwansbeck.org or drop us an email at climateactionwansbeck@gmail.com.

Hedge laying and much much more!

Brinkburn and Hesleyhurst Parish Council's climate change and biodiversity committee ran 3 days of hedge laying courses for beginners in early December 2024. We also added another 1-day course at the beginning of March 2025. The one-day courses were held at Thistleyhaugh farm in Longhorsley. This hedge laying scheme is the second year B&HPC have managed to offer these courses for free, thanks to the support of the Wingates Community Windfarm Fund.

Our goal is to encourage and educate people about the benefits of wildlife, biodiversity, and carbon capture from hedge laying. The students gained knowledge over the day to learn how to lay a hedge using basic traditional tools. David Boyson was the instructor and made the courses very informative, sharing his vast knowledge on this subject.

In early 2024 we carried out our first hedge laying project at our parish playing field located at Embleton Terrace NE65 8JJ. Call in to have a look!

B&HPC have been extremely busy over the last 2 years with projects such as: a bird nest box scheme for declining birds, litter picking, wildflower meadow seeding and scything, river quality testing, base line surveying, hedge laying and much more. This year we will be having scything workshops, a biodiversity event, putting up more bird boxes, hedge laying, surveying using QGIS, river testing, and more.

To find out about our schemes or if you would like to join us in our projects, please contact our Clerk clerk@brinkburn.net or search for our parish council website. Volunteers of all ages are welcome. Special thanks to the Wingates Community Windfarm Fund, volunteers, and landowners which make this all possible.

12. News from Northumberland County Council

Supporting Nature in Green Spaces – Consultation

The County Council Cabinet has recently received a report on its Environmental Policy Action Plan including details of a project titled ‘Supporting Nature in our Green Spaces’. This will include a detailed review of its Grounds Maintenance Service. The aim is to develop a new operating model that is efficient, provides value for money and defines a set of standards to improve biodiversity.

The work is being supported by Newcastle University to ensure there is a strong evidence base. Part of the project will include a ‘Community Conversation’ to find out if people think that it is important to improve the biodiversity of our green spaces. This survey is now open to the public, with a closing date of April 21st. Participants in the survey will also be asked if they wish to participate in future research about the new operating model.

If you’ve been concerned about cutting regimes in your area, this is your chance to have your say!

The report, and others considered by the Cabinet can be found at here.
